OUR WEALTH STRUCTURING & FAMILY OFFICE SERVICES

High-net-worth individuals (HNWIs) seek out a wide range of solutions in a variety of industries and sectors, depending on their very special needs. Although there is not an official definition of HNWI, the threshold for high net worth is generally understood to include liquid assets and exclude real assets. A high-net-worth individual is a person who owns liquid assets valued at $1 million or more, typically:

- High-net-worth individuals (HNWIs) own liquid assets between $1 million and $5 million
- Very-high-net-worth individuals (VHNWIs) own liquid assets valued between $5 million and $30 million
- Ultra-high-net-worth individuals (UHNWIs) own more than $30 million in liquid assets

Such circumstances require a range of services from providers and managers such as fiduciary services, trust management, estate planning and access to a variety of financial services experts. The stakes are exceptionally high and individuals at this level need absolute confidence in providers to deliver at the standards that they are accustomed to.

Our priority is to provide quality service that will help you achieve asset security and financial independence for you and your successors, and our AGS offices are ideally located to help our clients in these efforts.
